| 1. It is best to extend the ladder to the height you will need and then stand it upright.  | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 2. An extension ladder could weigh more than is safe for one person to handle alone.   | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 3. If a wall is not available to work against, a second person can place his foot on the bottom rung of the ladder and his other foot on one of the ladder feet. | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 4. When you reach beyond the middle point of setting up your ladder, an increasing force of ladder weight will be working against your lift.                     | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 5. Strong winds could prohibit you from safely using an extension ladder.  | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> |
